

JENNIFER MAZE

Clinical Psychologist and Co-Director, UCLA-Duke University National Center for Child Traumatic Stress (NCCTS)

DR. JENNIFER MAZE, PhD
Los Angeles, CA

Dr. Jennifer Maze is a clinical psychologist and the Co-Director for the UCLA-Duke University National Center for Child Traumatic Stress (NCCTS).

Dr. Maze has over 30 years of experience in the child trauma field, including in mental health, justice, and policy, as a therapist, trainer, evaluator, advocate, and program developer.

In her role as NCCTS Co-Director, she shares responsibility for leadership and oversight of the National Child Traumatic Stress Network, a collaborative of several hundred child trauma centers across the US, established by Congress in 2001 to raise the standard of care and improve access to services for children and families who have experienced trauma, across all service settings, age groups, and cultural backgrounds.
