

CHRISTIAN NUNES

President, National Organization for Women (NOW)

CHRISTIAN NUNES
Washington, DC

Christian F. Nunes, MBA, MS, LCSW, is a trailblazing advocate with unique qualifications. Her historic appointment as the President of the National Organization for Women in August 2020, following her role as Vice President, showcases her dynamic leadership.

As the organization's second African American president and the youngest person of color to hold the position in over 40 years, Christian leads NOW's intersectional mission, uniting grassroots activists against structural sexism and racism.

Christian's career, spanning over two decades, has been marked by her unwavering commitment to mental health and children's and women's issues.

Her leadership at NOW has been transformative, with the launch of numerous impactful initiatives that have significantly influenced areas such as housing, immigration, gender-based violence, democracy and constitutional equality, economic justice, and racial justice. The recent launch of the Feminism NOW Podcast is a testament to her success in expanding the discourse on intersectional feminism in everyday American society.

With over two decades of experience advocating for mental health and children's and women's issues, Christian's leadership at NOW has seen the launch of multiple impactful initiatives. Her thought leadership and intersectional insights have made a significant impact and earned her features in prominent media outlets such as Forbes, The Washington Post, The New York Times, CNN, MSNBC, and many more esteemed outlets.
